ROOSEVELT CHALLENGES COURT ON NRA

GOVERNOR HAS PLANS TO CUT STATE BUDGET

FITZGERALD LAUDS MICHIGAN PENSION PLAN

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, May 31. (AP)—A blanket cut of five per cent ranging from top to bottom of the $82,000,000 budget left him by the legislature was promised Friday night by Governor Fitzgerald.

In his fifth "monthly accounting" statement, the governor said he intends to use the power given him to adjust expenditures to "put an end to borrowing and debt making." He declared there will be no more shifting of funds. Every department and institution will be forced to live on its apportioned share of actual revenues, he declared. This may be allowed to stand without reduction, the governor indicated. All other legislative grants, including those for public schools and the University of Michigan, will be lowered to take a total of about $4,000,000 off the budget.

One-Way Dictatorship

"I've heard it said the authority conferred upon me to pro-rate appropriations makes me a dictator," he said. "It's a one way dictatorship. I may dictate reductions but not increases. There is only one direction in which I may travel, according to the wording of the law, and that is in the direction of economy."

The governor brushed aside threats of court action to prevent him from employing the authority given him to balance the budget. He declared any one who attempts to force the state to spend more money than it has to spend "is not standing on very firm ground as a protector of the public's interests."

Referring to the current investigation of the Michigan public trust commission, the governor said he has instructed the attorney general to get all the facts relative to charges of excessive fees and illegal extra compensation for a member during an inspection trip.

"It comes as a shock and a disappointment to have the finger of mistrust pointed at those in whom you placed your trust," he continued. "In cases of this kind, where men's reputations are at stake one cannot jump at conclusions. It was suggested I dismiss the three commissioners immediately. I don't do business that way. Every accused person over whom I exercise control will receive a fair hearing. When I get all the facts I will form a conclusion and act without delay."

The governor said the state will make a "real start" toward the establishment of a sound old age pension system July 1.

"Old age will be accompanied by security," he stated. "This time there can be no set back. Two million dollars has been appropriated for the pension fund and it is expected the federal government will contribute a like amount. I know of no act that will give me greater inner satisfaction than signing the pension bill."

3 Earthquakes Kill 20,000 in India

Using Live Steam To Fight Gas Well Fire

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., May 31 (AP)—The gas well fire on the Williams farm in Mecosta county, which has burned unchecked since Wednesday afternoon, burning two men fatally and injuring seven others, will be fought with live steam Saturday.

The work of quenching the 80 foot geyser of flame which has attracted thousands of persons to the scene, will be directed by H. L. Gentry of Jackson, a consulting engineer attached to the state fire marshal's office.

The twisted steel frame work of the derrick on which the victims of Wednesday afternoon's explosion and fire were trapped, was pulled away from the fire this afternoon by trucks.

The workers who will direct the fines of live steam on the fire Saturday will work from behind metal shields.

Plans to bring specially equipped fire fighters from Tulsa, Okla., were abandoned today.

KIDNAPED BOY STILL MISSING

Remnants of Karpis Mob Suspected in Weyerhaeuser Case

BY ROBERT L. HARBISON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Tacoma, Wash., May 31 (AP)—The needle of suspicion in the $200,000 George Weyerhaeuser abduction swung tonight over an array of shady specialists in murder, kidnaping and robbery—but again pointed most frequently to remnants of the vicious Karpis gang.

The name of Volney Davis, lieutenant of the arch criminal Alvin Karpis, leader of the mob that kidnaped Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul, popped into the picture for a second time in 24 hours.

The seventh day of the disappearance ended at noon, automatically invoking the legal presumption that the 9-year-old lumber heir either had been slain or taken across a state boundary line and thus permitting prosecution under the Lindbergh law.

Reward Is Possibility

United States Attorney H. P. McPike in San Francisco announced federal "G" men had entered Alcatraz prison there and questioned John Paul Chase, henchman of the late John Dillinger and George (Baby Face) Nelson, in connection with the Weyerhaeuser case.

Even straggling members of the broken George (Machine Gun) Kelly mob came under the widening investigation when a federal officer here acknowledged he would "like to talk to" Ed Bentz, missing Tacoma associate of Kelly and Albert Bates.

Bentz was a known associate of Harvey Bailey, as well as of Albert Bates and Kelly.

The three were convicted in the $200,000 ransom kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man. All are serving life prison terms.

Associates of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser, Jr., presumably continued the forlorn attempt to get in touch with the abductors and hand them $200,000 ransom.

One authoritative source talked of the possibility that a $25,000 reward might be offered soon, primarily in an effort to obtain the release of the boy through hitherto untried channels.

Fred Stojack, a University of Washington student, brought the name of henchman Davis back into the case again today.

Stojack said he sat in the same bus seat last Friday night with a man who was reading a letter addressed to "Volney Davis." It was postmarked Chicago. The student picked Davis' picture later from a group of photographs.

Counterfeiter Gets Suspended Sentence

Chicago, May 31 (AP)—Miss Sally Weber, 23, arrested on a charge of possessing and passing counterfeit $10 bills, heard only a part of sentence in federal court today.

"You are sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison," Judge John P. Barnes said—then Miss Weber fainted.

She failed to hear him add, "the sentence is suspended and you are placed on probation." Deputy marshals told her the good news when she was revived.

Frank Bucaro, 22, also convicted, was sentenced to serve seven and one-half years in prison. Two other men, Paul Marsala, 24, and Joseph J. Passentino, 25, were sentenced to a year and a day each.

HUNDREDS OF VICTIMS LYING UNDER DEBRIS

BRITISH ROYAL AIR FORCE HARD HIT AT QUETTA

(Copyright 1935, By The Associated Press)

Karachi, India, May 31.—Three tremendous rumbling earth shocks shattered the northwest frontier city of Quetta early today, killing an estimated 20,000 Europeans and natives.

It was feared the death toll would go much higher with receipt of reports from outlying districts, especially that between Quetta and Kalat.

Tonight many of the dead still lay buried beneath debris, at which exhausted soldiers and volunteer relief workers were frantically tearing.

Unnumbered thousands were left homeless, destitute and panic-stricken when the three successive quakes, the most violent lasting 60 seconds, racked their homes to pieces.

One relief train left Karachi tonight. Another was being prepared. Aboard it were physicians, nurses, railway men, medical supplies and food. Messages from Quetta, sent by wireless because land lines were wrecked, said food was enough for several days.

Quetta's normal military and civil population of over 60,000 had been swelled by thousands come from the lowland to escape the intense summer heat so that death, when it struck in the darkness of early morning, had so many the more targets.

A wireless message from Quetta, which gave the first complete estimate of the dead, placed the figure at 20,000 or more, although earlier unofficial estimates were as high as 30,000.

Hard hit was the British royal air force at Quetta, 44 of whose garrison died as the air force barracks were demolished. Twenty to 30 more were reported missing.

The main military barracks escaped the worst of the damage and soldiers were bearing the brunt of the relief work, for most of the town's policemen died.

Sir Norman Carter, agent of the governor general, and his entourage escaped death only through quick-wittedness. When the first rumble was heard, Carter warned all his staff to run for the open. They did just as the building crashed about them. Only the door-frames remained standing.

Hundreds of others who fled for safety in the streets were not so fortunate. Huddled in massed panic, they were caught and killed as buildings collapsed all about them.

So violent were the quakes that birds were said to have been shaken out of their nests.

Hardest hit, apparently, was the Province of Baluchistan, which has 868,000 population. Meager reports said one village, Mastung, with 4,000 inhabitants, lost 80 per cent of them.

Mrs. H. L. Mencken Claimed By Death

Baltimore, May 31. (AP)—Mrs. H. L. Mencken, writer, teacher and lecturer, and wife of the editor and author, died late today at the Johns Hopkins hospital. Death resulted from an illness she had suffered at intervals for a year but that became grave only recently.

Several times during the last year she had been a patient of the hospital. She became ill again in the middle of last week and was sent to the hospital for observation.

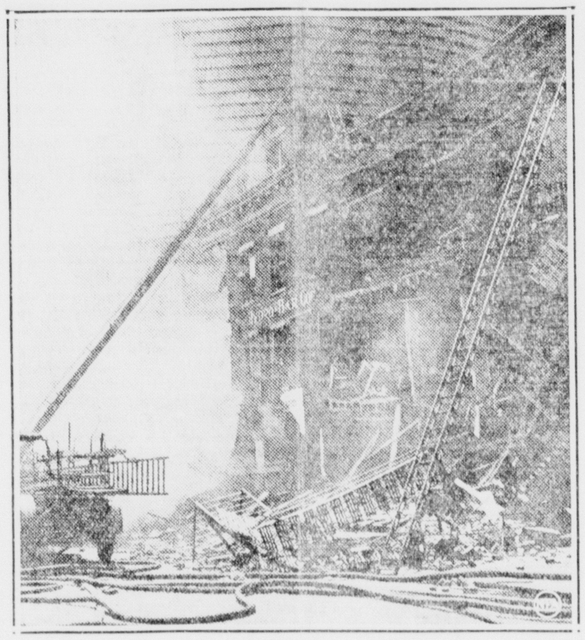
Mrs. Mencken was 37 years old. Before her marriage to Mencken August 27, 1930, she was Sara Powell Haardt. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Anton Haardt, of Montgomery, Ala., where she lived until she was 18 years old, are dead.

Another Dies From Poison Mushrooms

Pine River, Minn., May 31 (AP)—Another death today brought to five the number of fatalities resulting from the J. D. Young family eating poisonous toad stools in the mistaken belief they were mushrooms.

Rosella, 12, succumbed today in the Pine River hospital. Albert, 14, and Elsie, another child, were recovering. Dr. A. J. Button, hospital head, said. Four other children of the family have died from the same cause since Wednesday.

Debris Traps Six After Blast



An explosion in an automobile service station caused one of the most serious recent tragedies in New York, burying a half dozen occupants of nearby buildings in the debris of their wrecked homes and injuring many others. Fire followed the explosion and hampered firemen in rescue work. Smoke and dust still rise from the debris in this picture.

New Blaney Park Inn Destroyed by Flames; Will Rebuild at Once

The Blaney Park Inn, central dining hall of the Blaney Park Resort, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning, causing a loss estimated at $25,000. Defective electric wiring is believed to have been the cause of the blaze.

The large, attractive inn was dedicated at the opening of the Blaney Park Resort season a year ago. The building, 80 by 80 feet, had dining accommodations for 250 persons. All the contents, including tables, chairs, kitchen equipment and the new bar, were lost in the blaze.

Rebuild at Once

J. Earl Bishop, manager of the Blaney Park Resort, announced yesterday that work of rebuilding would start at once in order to have the necessary accommodations for the Blaney Park Coaching School, June 24 to 29, and the various conventions that are scheduled for the summer. In the meantime, facilities at Celibeth Tavern and Bear Creek Lodge will be used to take care of the needs of the public the early part of this month. There is a possibility that a newly-constructed garage may be used as a temporary dining hall.

Opened Season Thursday

Mr. Bishop was uncertain yesterday as to whether the resort would be able to handle the Michigan State College Alumni Reunion, scheduled for today. Beginning next week, however, all will be in readiness for taking care of the needs of the public. New dining room and kitchen equipment will be shipped from Chicago today.

The fire was noticed first at 3:45 a. m. The Manistique fire department was notified too late to save the building from destruction.

The Blaney Park Resort opened its 1935 season on Memorial Day. A dinner dance was held in the evening.

The resort is owned and operated by the Earle interests of the Wisconsin Land and Lumber company, Hermansville.

TRIO ARRESTED AT NEWBERRY

Brother of John Hamilton Held for Impersonating Officer

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 31 (AP)—District Attorney Joseph M. Donnelly said Friday, that three men, one of them a brother of John Hamilton fugitive lieutenant of the erstwhile Dillinger gang, had been arrested at Newberry, Mich., charged with impersonating federal officers.

The trio gave their names as Stanley J. Kuhen, Hugh Pratt and Foye Hamilton. The latter, according to Donnelly, is Hamilton's brother.

The district attorney said the men said they were residents of Newberry and allegedly represented themselves as government officers under order to collect gold from citizens of the town. Donnelly said one of the men had a license to buy gold, but none had any federal authority.

The trio will be arraigned before the United States commissioner at Sault Ste. Marie and Donnelly said he would seek indictments against them when the federal grand jury convenes there Tuesday.

PAROLED CONVICT

Marquette, Mich., May 31 (AP)—Foye Hamilton, brother of the elusive John Hamilton, held in the Luce county jail in Newberry on a charge of impersonating a federal officer, is a paroled inmate of the Marquette branch prison where he was serving a two to five year term for breaking and entering in Sault Ste. Marie, his home.

Foye Hamilton was sentenced May 8, 1933, and was paroled November 7, 1934, his term of probation to run one year.

The Hamilton boys' sister, Mrs. John Steve, also resides in Sault Ste. Marie. She is under indictment for harboring a fugitive from justice, growing out of an overnight visit of John Hamilton, the late John Dillinger and a woman friend paid her while the trio was enroute to the Little Bohemia, Wis., lodge, from which they shot their way to freedom when surprised by federal agents.

The arrest of Foye Hamilton, Stanley J. Kuhen and Hugh Pratt in Newberry today was made by state police from the Newberry post.

AT MANISTIQUE

The Michigan State College Alumni reunion scheduled to be held at Blaney Park today will be held at the Ossawinamakee Hotel in Manistique today instead. Coach Bachman of State will be the main speaker and Harry Burris of the Soo will act as toastmaster.

TWO VILLAGES WIPED OUT BY FLOOD, REPORT

NUMEROUS DEATHS IN 3 WESTERN STATES

Lincoln, Neb., May 31 (AP)—Cascading flood waters from two weeks rain roared down the Republican river late today, reportedly wiping out two villages in southwestern Nebraska, and swirling ahead of them unconfirmed reports of several deaths and huge property loss.

Snapping of all communication wires to the area about 7 p. m. (CST) prevented immediate verification of a half dozen ominous stories of death and ruin. Telegraph companies, railroads and radio amateurs sought to establish communication.

Unconfirmed advices said that at least six men had been swept to their deaths when a bridge gave away near McCook, center of the flood zone.

Rains continued tonight, stopping all train and automobile traffic to the territory and grounding planes all over the state.

14 Men Marooned

The tiny villages of Parks and Max, according to word received at McCook, were wiped out. It could not be learned whether lives were lost there.

Not only the Republican, but the Platte and other streams in the southwestern part of the state were on a rampage, either overflowing or churning bankful and threatening to get out of control.

From McCook, prior to disruption of communication, came the story of a battle to save the live of 14 men, marooned atop the Nebraska Power and Light company plant. They had labored throughout last night as waters rose in efforts to prevent cutting off all electric power in the city. Late today tumbling waters drove the majority from their posts. The 14, however, were left on top as their companions fled to higher ground.

Rescue crews shot lines to them in futile efforts to aid. Then broken communication wires left the story unfinished.

The waters swept into south McCook, shoving houses from foundations and carrying them with the flood.

Citizens at Arapahoe were said to be barricading themselves as the waters rushed toward them.

Drownings were reported at Trenton and other points and there came frequent stories of heroism as families were rescued from roof tops.

Two Burlington railroad trains were marooned—one at Red Willow, Neb., and the other near Parks, the town reportedly washed away.

15 KNOWN DEAD

Denver, Colo., May 31 (AP)—Off the eastern slope of the towering Rocky Mountains, flood waters pounded through northeastern Colorado tonight, strewing at least 15 known dead over an area hundreds of miles long.

Utilities were crippled. Highways were washed out or covered. Property damage mounted into the millions of dollars.

Besides the known dead in Colorado and adjoining Wyoming, estimates of the missing in the two states mounted beyond a score.

Each hour brought mounting threats and damage to the Fort Morgan and Sterling districts in northeastern Colorado as torrents that roared out of canyons and creeks gushed into the overtaxed Platte river.

The death list remained highly tentative because of varying reports about the many missing and the downpours of numerous cloudbursts and rains from which the floods arose had not spent their force.

Adding to the two known dead at Colorado Springs came reports of seven lives lost in southeastern Wyoming as well as three at Kiowa and three at Elbert in eastern Colorado.

"Unprecedented" was the description given of the danger tonight at Sterling, Colo.

Straits Traffic Shows Big Boost

Lansing, May 31 (AP)—The doubling of traffic across the Straits of Mackinac on Memorial Day was hailed today by State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner as indicating a banner year for tourist traffic. State ferries carried 780 vehicles yesterday as compared to 356 on Memorial Day of 1934.

Three Arrested On Statutory Charge

Lansing, May 31 (AP)—Three Michigan State college students, one of them a member of the basketball team, faced charges today of a statutory offense against a 17-year-old Lansing high school girl.

The three, Alexander Varsoke, 20; Spencer Rogers, 21, the member of the basketball team, and James Edwin Jackson, 20, will be given preliminary hearings in municipal court June 4. They demanded the examinations at their arraignment a few minutes after Prosecutor Dan D. McCullough approved warrants charging them with the offense. Bond in each case was fixed at $2,000.

Prosecutor McCullough said the gir accused Varsoke of having attacked her and the others with having failed to interfere.

President Robert S. Shaw of Michigan State college said the institution would take no action against the youths unless they are convicted.

SENATORS WILL OPPOSE CHANGE

Constitutional Revision To Legalize New Deal Hotly Attacked

Washington, May 31 (AP)—President Roosevelt's implied suggestion today that a constitutional amendment might be needed as a result of the supreme court's NRA decision drew a prompt crossfire of congressional and other comment.

Aroused members of the president's own party in several instances joined Republican critics of the new deal in opposing such a move. Outside of congress Jouett Shouse, president of the American Liberty League, said the president had "renounced" the Democratic party's theory of states' rights.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.), said he had "assumed that the question of federal and state governments under the constitution had been settled for 160 years."

Vandenberg Opposed

Senator Fletcher (D-Fla.), was of the opinion that "we have tampered with the constitution enough already."

From the other side of the political fence, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), said he didn't believe President Roosevelt had any thought of emulating Mussolini or Hitler but that "his utterance, as I have read it, is exactly what these men would say about the American picture if they were called upon to diagnose it." He added:

"In order to accept this philosophy you have got to accept the fundamental of the new deal which is that the institutions of America as we knew them up to 1929 have completely broken down and that prosperity never can be restored on the old basis.

"I do not accept this theory."

Senator Costigan (D-Colo.), who has a constitutional amendment pending to legalize the new deal program, said:

"The president apparently was endeavoring to invite public opinion to bear for a solution of the problem. The group of statutes adopted by congress in the last few years indicated the common recognition of the necessity for bringing national remedies into play to meet national necessities."

SHOULD BE IMPEACHED

Lincoln, Neb., May 31 (AP)—Sam R. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska and a member of the farm board of former President Hoover, tonight said President Roosevelt should be impeached for his statements today concerning the NRA decision of the supreme court.

Pope Celebrates His 78th Birthday

Vatican City, May 31 (AP)—Pope Pius today celebrated his 78th birthday by observing his most rigid schedule of work in years.

After celebrating a low mass in the morning, he received congratulations from his immediate relatives. He then read and dictated letters and began a long round of private and public audiences. It was well after 2 p. m. before the pontiff sat down to his luncheon table.

In the afternoon he took a brief drive in the Vatican gardens—he seldom walks nowadays—before he resumed his busy work-day with his two secretaries.

While he does not take as much physical exercise as he did when he ascended the papal throne 13 years ago, the pope, American prelates said, appears to be in excellent physical condition and does not spare himself in his exacting daily duties.

VERDICT PUTS COUNTRY BACK TO BUGGY AGE

HINTS REVISION OF CONSTITUTION AS REMEDY

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, May 31 (AP)—President Roosevelt today appealed the supreme court's NRA decision to the people.

Hinting strongly at an effort to revise the constitution, he asserted, at a press conference unique in his administration, that the nation must decide whether the federal government shall, or shall not, have authority to deal with what the administration considers grave economic and social problems of national scope and import.

The president challenged directly the supreme court's interpretation of the fundamental law and told a hundred reporters—gathered in an atmosphere of tension—that the court had "relegated the nation to the days of the horse and buggy."

Surveys Wreckage

Surveying the wreckage of NRA, the chief executive declared the federal alcohol control administration, as now constituted, had been abolished and that the agricultural adjustment administration and securities exchange commission were threatened.

While stock and staples markets quickly hit a downward trend, Washington interpreted Mr. Roosevelt's remarks as indicating future administration policy would follow one of two courses:

The submission of an amendment to the constitution givin congress specifically the powers it sought to wield in NRA, but which the court said were denied to the federal government by the fundamental law.

A campaign of public education and agitation to find its reflection in a change in the court's philosophy which led it to confine interstate commerce, as Mr. Roosevelt interpreted the opinion, the goods in transmit.

For an hour and a half, the president talked NRA with the newspapermen who surrounded his desk and jammed his office to the rear door. Frequently he leaned forward and waved a copy of the high courts NRA opinion to emphasize his points.

Mrs. Roosevelt was present calmly knitting on a nearby davenport, but nevertheless intently listening. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, new deal chieftain in that branch of congress, entered in the middle of the conference, pushed his way through the reporters and sat down on a low window sill behind the president.

While the president spoke, house leaders were predicting early enactment of an NRA law confined to interstate business as

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

President Roosevelt, in an unusually long press conference, hinted at constitutional revision to empower the federal government to deal with social and economic problems which he seeks to solve through the now dead NRA and other new deal measures.

His expressions aroused congressional opposition to changes in the constitution to broaden the federal control ove rintra-state commerce.

Statewide compacts similar to NRA codes were suggested as another means of circumventing the supreme court decision.

George R. James, veteran member of the federal reserve board, told the senate banking subcommittee that centralization of control over currency and credit in the board was "not needed at this time".

Securities and exchange commission members, their powers questioned by the NRA decision, planned to continue their operations unless and until formally restrained.

Senate floor debate on the utilities holding company bill brought charges by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) that Senator Dietrich (D-Ill) had "filled" the galleries with power lobbyists.

President Roosevelt indicated an intention to leave up to congress legislation for liquor trade control, which technically ends when the FACA expires June 16.

Secretary Wallace said the farm program would be carried on although some changes in the adjustment act were deemed necessary.

VERDICT PUTS COUNTRY BACK TO BUGGY AGE

defined by the court, and supplemented by legislation to encourage state legislatures to enact laws for NRA's of their own. They thought a constitutional amendment would run into difficulties in congress.

From NRA headquarters went out telegrams to all code authorities asking for daily reports of abandonment of code provisions on wages hours and working conditions with fact carefully differentiated from rumor.

A group of house liberals meanwhile were reported making plans for a meeting devoted to canvassing the possibility of a general convention for the purpose of revising the constitution. Representative Keller (D. Ill.), it was said, would call the preliminary meeting in the next few days.

Hands Are Tied

Gravely serious, the president made it plain that he regarded the opinion, if it is followed in future decision, as virtually tieing the hands of the federal government on all economic and social questions and lodging their solution with the 48 states.

Human nature being what it is, he intimated, there remained little possibility of effective accomplishment through voluntary codes. He foresaw little but confusion and conflict resulting from 48 separate efforts to deal with what he regarded as a single problem.

Not only was the federal government enjoined from attempting to touch the field of commerce and business, he said, but that of agriculture as well. Ominously, he added that abandonment of crop curtailment programs would, under present world production conditions, result in 36 cent wheat and five-sent cotton.

The public, he thought, had not yet conceived a clear idea of the issues presented by the opinion, with this condition made evident by the fact that nine out of ten proposed remedies themselves ran counter to the court's edict.

Talking on and on, Mr. Roosevelt described the mass of letters and telegrams lying on his desk as rather pathetic appeals to the president to save the writers from losing their businesses and to protect them from bankruptcies which they feared lay ahead.

After reading several of the communications, Mr. Roosevelt picked up the opinion itself, asserting that its implications were much more important than those of any decision within his life time, in fact more vitally important than any since the Dred Scott verdict.

He emphasized he was speaking no spirit of resentment. No one, he said, could resent the decision; one could only deplore it and call the attention of the country to the seriousness of the issues it presented.

The court's first state objection to the NRA—that the underlying law was invalid because it did not set forth in detail definitions of the broad principles enunciated—he saw as no cause for worry.

Refers to War Laws

Coming to the court's statement that while "extraordinary conditions call for extraordinary remedies x x x extraordinary conditions do not create or enlarge constitutional power," Mr. Roosevelt digressed, to speak of legislation enacted during the war.

Because the country was at war, he said, these measures never were tested in the courts. Much of the legislation then enacted, he said, was far more violative of the constitution than any legislation passed in 1933.

Back again on the subject of the court's remarks on delegation of power, he said, that question was not so very important because the court had said only that delegation should have been so phrased as to give definite directions to administrative or quasi-judicial bodies as was done in the case of the federal trade commission.

For the future, he said, adding that undoubtedly an act could be written that would conform with the court's edict. Much more important, he felt, was the court's construction of the interstate commerce clause.

In that construction, he said the court had gone back, at least by dictum to the Knight case of 1885, which, in effect, limited interstate commerce to goods in transit. Since that time, he went on, the court has enlarged upon that view with the result that it was clearly the opinion of congress and of various attorney generals that the word interstate commerce applied only to interstate commerce shipments, but to many things that affected interstate commerce.

The whole tendency, the president said, has been to view the interstate commerce clause in the light of modern civilization. When that clause was written, he continued, the country was in the horse and buggy age, with 80 to 90 per cent of the population self supporting individuals within their own communities.

The debates which preceded adoption of that clause dealt, he said with the purpose of preventing one state from placing tariffs on imports from other states.

A New Philosophy

They had no problems of unemployment or earning capacity then, he said, and there were no social questions, no questions of national health; fair trade practises had never been discussed, personal business ethics were very different from those of today; the whole picture was different.

Since then, because of improvement in transportation and communication, the president continued, the nation had developed an entirely different philosophy—the earnings of the city worker affect the farmer, the prosperity of the farmer affects the city.

The hope has been, he said, that the government could interpret the interstate commerce clause in the light of these new things; tha when a condition arises in one state that is harmful to business in another the federal government would be held to have power to intervene.

But, he contended, the high court took no account of things indirectly but nevertheless importantly affecting interstate commerce.

Ben Johnson Shows His Heels to Field in Sprints

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Cambridge, Mass., May 31 (AP)—Forecasting a decisive conquest for Southern California's Trojans, who came through the qualifying tests without the loss of a single contestant, the preliminary battle for places in the 59th Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. track and field championships today was lifted from its otherwise monotonous routine by the sensational sprint of Columbia's Ben Johnson, negro sophomore.

Johnson, who holds the national as well as the I. C. A. A. A. A. indoor sprint crowns, served notice of his challenge to the new California comet, George Anderson, by beating the meet records in the trials for both the 100 and 200 meter dashes.

These two speedsters shared a new mark of 10.5 for the century, clipping one-tenth second off the old record, as they paced the semi-finalists. Johnson then reeled off the 200 in 21 seconds flat, also one-tenth second under the former record, but this was disallowed because of a seven-mile-an-hour following breeze. Anderson was clocked in 21.7 as he also qualified handily for the longer sprint and forecast a brilliant duel tomorrow in the finals, for the speed crowns.

Two of the Michigan State college entries passed the qualifying barriers. Francis C. Dittrick placed fourth in the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet, 5½ inches. James H. Wright came in third in the first heat of the 800 meter run trials which was won by Ross Bush of Southern California in 1:56.1. Carl T. Mueller failed to make the grade in the sixth heat of the 100 meter dash event when he placed third. Only the first two of each heat in that event qualified.

Southern California turned in an amazingly consistent team performance. The Trojans sent 16 men into the finals, conducted in 11 of the 15 championship events. Every one of them survived, including Ray Cartwright, who came through gallantly to qualify in the 800 meter run after losing a shoe in the early stages of his heat.

Pittsburgh sprang a welcome surprise for the eastern contingent by gaining six qualifying places, and finishing third on today's list. Tied at fourth, with five qualifying places each, were Stanford, Cornell and Harvard.

LIST TOURIST QUARTERS

Marquette—All Marquette residents who have tourist rooms, or apartments, over-night cabins, cottages or camps to rent during the summer are requested to notify the Chamber of Commerce immediately if they desire to have their property listed in the Chamber office during the tourist and resort season.

On June 1 the Chamber will compile a list of all tourist rooms and property suitable for renting to tourists or vacationists and all such property will be inspected by the Chamber's tourist committee before it is listed. If owners of summer cabins, tourist rooms and cottages desire to get the full advantage from the Chamber's service they should make certain that they are included in the June 1 listing, members of the tourist committee pointed out yesterday.

STRIKERS FIGHT WITH OFFICERS

Ohio State Students in Front Ranks; Several Persons Hurt

Columbus, O., May 31. (AP)—With Ohio State University students in the front ranks, Columbus Packing Co. strikers and their sympathizers clashed in a 30-minute pitched battle with 200 policemen and detectives today.

Four policemen were injured, dozens of strikers suffered bruises and cuts, and 22 strike sympathizers were arrested.

The riot brought an ultimatum from Safety Director W. S. Pealer for university students to stay "in their own end of town" and a point-blank order from Mayor Henry W. Worley against mass picketing at the plant, torn by strike disturbances for nearly two months.

Strike threats and attempted settlements marked developments along the rest of Ohio's turbulent labor front.

Police Sgt. Charles Fritz fatally shot William Williams, 30, at Cincinnati as the aftermath of a recent strike in the Norwood Chevrolet-Fisher body plant. Fritz said Williams, armed with a butcher knife, attempted to resist arrest when police attempted to break up a strike argument.

A half dozen university students were reported to have been among the demonstrators injured in the Columbus Packing Co. outbreak.

Police Capt. Earl Boggs said one of the pickets told him before the riot started that the strikers didn't care if the university students were hurt.

"We put the students up in front when we clash with police and if anybody gets hurt it isn't one of us," Boggs quoted the picket as saying.

Ohio State members of the National Students' league will continue to support the strikers at the Columbus Packing company in the firm belief that only through immediate united action of students and workers will Fascism be defeated."

Husband Detained After Wife Dies

Ludington, Mich., May 31 (AP)—Sheriff's officers detained Fred Burke, of Carr Settlement, today while they investigated the death of his wife, whose body was found in the fire ruins of their home Wednesday.

Sheriff George Collier said the decision to hold Burke in custody followed the discovery that a gasoline washing machine, which the husband had blamed for the fire, was not in the house when the fire started.

Mrs. Burke's body has been taken to Ann Arbor, where University of Michigan pathologists will attempt to ascertain the cause of death.

Dancers Strike For Admission Equality

Male dancers went on strike at the Coliseum last night, refused to enter the hall to provide partners for the female "stags," and picketed the building. The strike was instigated because of a desire among the male dancers to bring about equal admission prices for men and women.

The picket pfoved at least moderately successful because, observers reported, only a few male dancers entered the hall and most of these were not "stags." A group of over 100 "stags" remained outside the building.

The purpose of the convention is to assemble as many interested groups as possible to discuss social and economic problems. A discussion concerning the work provisions of the new public works program and its relation to the unemployed will be part of the agends. Market and production needs of the farmer, relief conditions of the unemployed, social and old age insurance, the Wagner labor disputes bill, and the Black 30-hour week bill will also come before the meeting. Prominent speakers will address the gathering.

The meeting is sponsored by the United Workers of Gladstone, the Federal Labor union local, and the Chamber of Labor for North America.

FRANCE GETS NEW CABINET

Coalition Support Given To Bouisson, Money Situation Acute

BY JOHN EVANS
(Copyright 1935, By The Associated Press)

Paris, May 31—Fernand Bouisson, big, bald, bearded 60-year-old president of the chamber of deputies, tonight formed another cabinet pledged to "save the franc."

Acting on President Albert Lebrun's warning that delay in solving this nation's newest financial and political crisis might be dangerous, Bouisson sped the pace of his negotiations and announced he would be ready to present the list to the president at midnight.

He was expected to take the new government next Monday before the chamber, which early today dramatically overthrew Pierre-Etienne Flandin's ministry on its demand for dictatorial financial powers to defend the currency.

Riots Are Feared

Fear of riots solidified political sentiment behind the premier-designate and he managed to put together in short order the coalition support he had demanded as the price of his surrender of the presidency of the chamber to take the premiership.

Pierre Laval's retention as foreign minister was taken for granted, thus promising continuance of France's present foreign policy.

Bouisson gained the backing of the radical socialists by promising any emergency financial powers granted him by parliament would be used only to protect the franc and stimulate business.

It as Flandin's demand for similar semi-dictatorial powers to "save the franc" that brought his government dramatic defeat in the chamber of deputies early this morning, the deputies voting non-confidence in his ministry 353 to 202.

Meanwhile an unending golden stream, representative of the flight from the franc, still flowed out of the vaults of the Bank of France and the question of devaluation of the currency remained an open issue.

Jackson, (AP) — The body of J. Donald Croil, 34, was found Friday in his automobile, the motor of which was running, in a closed garage. Relatives said he had been despondent over unemployment and the recent death of his wife, whose grave he had visited shortly before his death.

Memorial Day Is Observed Thursday

Newberry, May 31.— James Henderson, lawyer from the Sault and a former Newberry boy, delivered the Memorial Day address at Forest Home cemetery on Thursday following a parade which started from the community building at 11 a. m. In the line of march the Newberry band, now under auspices of the American Legion which had charge of the Memorial Day services, led the way followed by a firing squad and colors, Legion members, Spanish War men, a delegation from a CCC camp in charge of an army officer, Boy Scouts and school children. Graves at the cemetery were decorated and a delegation of Legion members then went to McMillan and placed flowers and flags on the soldier graves there. The school and all places of business were closed for the day. Many people visited resort places now just opened, many groups gathered in homes for a quiet hour or so. In Newberry a concert given by Finnish residents in town and from Sault Ste. Marie, Rudyard and Grand Marais, in the community building closed the day fittingly.

Starting with the processional of the 1935 graduating class, numbering 45, Mrs. C. L. Bystrom will play the march, Rev. F. Merle Townsend, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church will speak the ivocation. The school glee club singing a capella will give the Leslie "Lullaby of Life" and Mr. Townsend will read the scripture followed by the sermon. Ahlman, instructor in violin, assisted by several other musicians and the Finnish church choir gave a program in the community building on the night of Memorial Day. Calcium Chloride Promised for M-35 To Alleviate Dust

Local motorists who have had cause for complaint about the dust on M-35, south of Ford River, have been given assurance that this condition soon will be alleviated by the application of calcium chloride. The entire graveled length of M-35 is to be treated with dust-layer this summer, according to an announcement of the state highway department. The department has ordered 20,000 tons of chloride for use on the state's 3,672 miles of trunk line gravel roads. Additional chloride and oil will be used later.

"The state highway department will have its gravel roads in good shape for the summer tourist traffic," said Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner. "Although we have been delayed somewhat in starting this program we will see to it the chloride will be applied immediately after delivery.

"The state highway department is cognizant of its responsibility to the tourist industry of the state, the farmers, and general public in this program. We will leave nothing undone to rush it through."

Portion of county roads 577 and 338, being used at the present time as a detour around paving now in progress on US-41 between Birch Creek and Wallace, has already received a treatment of chloride. Added traffic routed over the gravel road caused a disagreeable dust condition.

DUST LAYER PLANNED

ANNOUNCEMENT that 20,000 tons of calcium chloride have been purchased by the state highway department for a dust-laying program on gravel roads will be received with much satisfaction in the upper peninsula.

Due to the fact that in the past the upper peninsula has been denied a concrete highway building program in fair proportion to that received by lower Michigan, motorists have been forced to eat a lot of dust while traveling along our gravel roads.

If we wish to attract to tourists up into this north country we cannot long force them to eat dust. The application of the dust-layer chemical will eliminate the nuisance, but at its best it is only a temporary stop-gap.

What we need up into this dusty, sand country is an adequate system of concrete highways. Good roads are the foundations for building up a tourist business in the upper peninsula and we should never lose sight of that fact. It is hoped that a large proportion of the work relief funds will be expended for this purpose.

4-H CONSERVATION

A. G. KETTUNEN, state 4-H club leader, has announced that it is being planned to include a general conservation project in the work of the boys and girls who are enrolled under the 4-H club program in the state.

In Minnesota, 4-H conservation clubs have been functioning for sometime and the results of their activities are clearly noticeable. The Minnesota program develops an appreciation of nature and the need for conserving wild life and other natural resources. The boys and girls know the importance of preventing forest fires and the objectives of this phase of their educational campaign is often impressed upon their elders.

The upper peninsula should look with favor upon the 4-H conservation club idea. Our future up here seems to depend to a great extent upon the activities of the state conservation department and the U. S. Forest Service. To these agencies is given the responsibility of rebuilding upon the desolate ruins and ashes that human carelessness have brought about in the past.

It would be fine if the 4-H clubs could start their conservation projects shortly after the opening of the next school year.

HELP THE BAND!

A SUBSCRIPTION campaign has been launched in the community to raise funds for the purchase of uniforms for the Escanaba Marine Band.

The well known organization is composed of 27 experienced musicians, whose services will be available for various civic functions. Since Escanaba has gained prominence as a convention city it is quite important that there be a well-uniformed band on hand to greet the many visitors that will come here.

A live town needs a good band. Only 27 uniforms are needed to realize this objective.

The Escanaba Woman's club has agreed to purchase two uniforms from its funds, and the Daughters of American Revolution and Women's Relief Corps have each donated ten dollars to the cause. The women's organizations are right out in front in this worthy movement. It's a challenge to the men folks.

OLD DAYS RECALLED

OLD-TIME racing fans were given a reminder of the days of yore when they read the news that Ralph Hepburn and John Seymour were entered in the Memorial Day 500-mile automobile classic on the Indianapolis speedway.

Hepburn and Seymour raced on their motorcycles on the fairgrounds dirt track in Escanaba back a score years ago and later their travels to all parts of the world and exploits on racing tracks were watched with interest by speed fans.

Later, both men went in for automobile racing. Hepburn finished fifth in the Memorial Day grind at Indianapolis this year, while Seymour lasted for only 175 miles.

NRA DEPARTS

THE United States Supreme Court decision invalidating all NRA codes settles much. It ends an experiment the efficacy of which was already doubtful in the minds of most. It removes occasion for concern over charges of dictatorship and regimentation of small business. It gives industry renewed opportunity to attempt self-government free from the interfering hand of the Federal Government.

But the decision is not a solution to the problems and abuses which brought the National Industrial Recovery Act into being. So far as the immediate emergency was concerned, the act has served its purpose, whatever the court may hold about it. It did accomplish much to put a bottom under sweatshop wages to abolish child labor and bring a semblance of fair competition into demoralized trade.

Its methods were not those, however, which could be viewed with equanimity as a program for normal times or the permanent development of economic life. They involved a structure of administrative lawmaking on a scale probably unprecedented in history. "Self-government by industry" turned too often into self-government for the benefit of industry with the interests of the consumer left to one side. The ramifications of code making by trade associations piled up intolerable complications and uncertainties in many businesses and laid the groundwork for government by a bureaucracy taking over the legislative powers of Congress.

This has been well and ably pointed out in the Court's decision. There is in the opinion a significant dissertation on the Federal Trade Commission as representing a proper administrative setup with proper legislative guidance as to its function. Will the Administration return to a reliance on that commission and be content to proceed in the slower but probably sounder way by which it was building up voluntary improvement of trade practices before NRA came along? Many believe this is the true course.

There is, however, the whole field of labor relations outside that orbit. Will the nation or the states consent to a return of child labor? Or will they now concede the necessity of the child labor amendment? And as to minimum wages and maximum hours, what authority can now protect them? Or is the whole social interest in labor standards to be discarded?

These issues cannot lightly be dismissed. Collective bargaining was relied upon further to safeguard treatment of workers. Whether the assurance of it has any standing in the absence of codes is problematical, but clearly the ground is cut from under the Wagner labor disputes bill. States have been estopped for years from enforcing minimum wage laws, except for women, as being a violation of freedom of contract.

Now it may be that laissez-faire is, after all, the best economic doctrine. But if it is to be made to work to the satisfaction of a Christian community there must be coupled with it a greater social conscience on the part of individuals than has yet been displayed. Are Americans ready to undertake seriously and determinedly the development of a sufficient sense of stewardship on the part of possessors of wealth or the instruments which produce wealth and employment?

And if untempered competition—survival of the fittest and extinction of the losers—be held not a suitable standard for a nation that has outgrown the pioneering stage and entered upon a more mature enjoyment of its resources, then will the United States face frankly the query whether the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution is still the proper and best criterion for the division of powers between federal and state governments?

A unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court, especially so well reasoned as that of Chief Justice Hughes, certainly commands respect as sound interpretation of the words of the Constitution. The opinion, moreover, marks out an important and useful distinction between direct and indirect effects from intrastate actions upon interstate commerce.

Legally the argument has fallen that with the present integration makes its ripple across the whole national pool of markets and business. Economically and politically its full effect has yet to be felt.

Will the United States eventually be pushed to try to redefine by constitutional amendment the national powers over commerce? Or will it find solutions for its problems within the lines laid down by the founders of the nation? Their judgment as embodied in the Constitution deserves the profoundest respect, but it does not relieve us of the present generation from the stark necessity of using amid today's conditions our own God-given powers of intelligence, observation and reason. — Christian Science Monitor.

CHAPTER XX

Katharine said, persistently, "I want to get away, Daddy."

Victor Strykhurst frowned. "I don't know what gets into you girls nowadays," he complained. "Zoe Parker has to be dragged all over Europe and even when she gets home she's not satisfied; why, you've got everything in the world you want—"

Katharine listened patiently. Stubbornly she went back to her argument.

"There's nothing for me to do here. Frankly, I'm bored. I'd like a job."

The snowy eyebrows shot up. "What could you do? No, it's nonsense; I won't have it. People'd say Bertine hadn't been good to you. And she has been good, hasn't she?"

It was almost pathetic, his desire for approval of Bertine, Katharine thought. Dryly she said, "Of course. But, Daddy, couldn't I have some of my own money now—the money Mother left in trust for me? It will be mine anyhow next year."

The merest shadow crossed his face. "Eh? No, I think that would be irregular. The bank probably wouldn't hear of it."

"I thought you had it in charge?"

His high color deepened.

"Little girls shouldn't bother their heads about business. Your money will be paid over in due time."

He rose, terminating the interview. "Buy yourself a new hat and forget about it, my dear."

That, Katharine told herself, wandering out into the morning, was that. She had been a fool to think she could do anything with her father.

But how could she bear Innicock now?

Bertine's words of the day before rang in her mind. Was it true? Could it be true that Michael Heatheroe was going to marry Sally Moon?

Incredible! Katharine's mind—her heart—rejected it.

Bertine had said coolly, "Of course the Moons are up in arms. But what can they do? The girl's always been a wild one. And undoubtedly the man's a fortune hunter. Sally Moon will have a very tidy little fortune of her own some day."

She had dismissed the whole matter. Somehow Katharine had got out of the room. No one she was sure, had noticed. Not even John Kaye, who saw everything, usually.

She made the day pass somehow. Strange how empty hours could be when you hadn't anything to look forward to. Swimming, tennis, French lessons—sitting at the wheel of some boat with an attentive, bronzed young man beside you. It was all a dream in which you moved and spoke automatically.

So Michael Heatheroe was a fortune hunter! Could she believe that? Michael, with his lean, tanned face and those eyes that were so shrewd and kindly—could a man like that be really mean and base?

Or had he fallen desperately in love with the bundle of feminine flutter and curls that was Sally Moon?

The town buzzed with the sensation for several days. Have you heard? That crazy Sally Moon's gone and got herself engaged to the man who runs the riding club. Of course he's a nobody, my dear, but quite good manners, and so good-looking! Oh, well, the Moons are really outsiders, anyhow. Her mother was a girl in a shop, some place . . . And so on and so on. Small town gossip. Picked up avidly by the lunching, bridge-playing women at the country club, tossed from mouth to mouth.

Katharine thought it would drive her frantic, at first. But she steeled herself to it. After a week—two weeks—she found she could bear the thought without flinching.

She had not been back to ride since the formal announcement in the papers. Therefore she had not met the slightly puzzled, unhappy look in the eyes of Michael Heatheroe. She had not been compelled to see Sally's triumphant smile or air of possessiveness.

"Well, I know one thing, my dear," she heard Bertine say impressively to Mrs. Romantic. "I know if she brings him to the club I shall complain. I shall certainly expect all the members who know the man to cut him. It's not decent."

Rage had choked Katharine. She had flung herself out of the house, unable to trust herself further.

Zoe was completely recovered now. Lisa Parker took her out to Colorado in late August. Dr. Kaye came out less often these days. His practice was growing. Bertine had told everyone proudly that he was Park Avenue's most popular specialist.

So Katharine was left more and more to herself. She began to refuse invitations to dinners and dances, including the younger set of Innicock. Such parties bored her. She got into the habit, without Bertine's knowledge, of putting her sketching things into the car and driving up to Violet Merser's. Even if Violet were not at home, Katharine could set her easel up in the garden back of the little white house and work away busily and happily for hours.

The Merser garden was a pleasant jungle of old-fashioned flowers. Zinnias, nasturtiums, ageratum, snapdragons made a perfect riot of color here. Hollyhocks, gone to seed, leaned idly against the clapboarded walls and within a picket fence enclosure of the drying yard. A rocky path wandered up the hills behind the house. Katharine tore her stockings and scratched her hands on tangled berry bushes. Mint grew in a fragrant carpet behind the asters. It was all old-fashioned and comfortable and satisfying. Sometimes one of the small girls, sunburned and hatless, with tawny hair flying in the breeze, would

LYRICS OF LIFE

THE MEN IN KHAKI

The men in khaki follow on
The march the men in blue have gone—
Upon occasions still parading,
But finding wartime matters fading
And peacetime duties growing clear
With each maturer thought and year,
As does the mind of age forever
Sift wisdom from the merely clever.

For no one hates all conflict more
Than does the soldier, knowing war.
While they speak lightly of the danger
Of war, who are to war a stranger.
He knows a nation pays and pays
For many years in many ways:
In sleeping lads, in weeping lasses,
And panic years through which it passes.

With all the warring men have done,
No war was ever really won
The vanquished paid, the victors later,
The latter payment often greater.
The soldier, when his battles cease,
Will work and talk and pray for peace.
He knows no man should slay his brother,
And knows it more than any other.

20 Years Ago

On a narrow point of land jutting out into Gouley's Bay, near Fairport, is the charred remains of what once was the home and stronghold of "Big Dan" Seavey, for many years known as "Dan the Pirate". In the home of Robert Brody near Fairport is the burned and unrecognizable remains of his son, James, 18 years of age, who died after saving Seavey from a death in the flames of his sawmill. Not far from it will be found another home in mourning, where the body of Lucius Mercier has been laid after it was found on the bottom of Gouley's Bay, where he had met his death while attempting to save a gasoline boat, anchored to the mill, from the flames. At St. Francis hospital lies Dan Seavey, burned terribly on both feet, hands and the top of his head. He will recover.

Delegates from points throughout the northwest, including British Columbia, gathered in Escanaba yesterday to attend the opening session of the seventeenth biennial convention of the Swedish Aid and Fellowship Society, at the North Star hall.

Excitement ran high at the store of the Ed. Erickson company yesterday afternoon when the roof of the one-story addition gave way and crashed down. Miss Mary Anderson and Miss Osene St. Peter, clerks in the store, were the only persons in this section of the building, and they fortunately escaped uninjured.

Miss Mona L. Voght, who has served as instructor in expression and physical training at Stuttgart, Ark., arrived home yesterday to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Voght, Delta avenue.

After being dead, it is believed nearly two days, the body of Frank Richer, a well-known character in the city, was found in his shack eight miles east of Maple Ridge. He was familiarly known as "Horse and Buggy" Richer.

Ginger Seasoning

Ginger in fruit cocktails, as a sauce over ice cream and indeed, frozen into the ice cream itself, has become a fad of smart hostesses this year. The touch of heat adds a piquant note to what otherwise is a monotony of sweetness.

St. Joseph's Graduates Receive Their Diplomas At Impressive Exercises

Thirty-seven graduates of St. Joseph's high school class of 1935 received their diplomas Friday evening at impressive commencement exercises, splendidly arranged, held in St. Joseph's auditorium.

The presentation of the diplomas was made by Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O. F. M., superintendent of the school, who also presented the honor awards. The commencement address was delivered by Rev. Fr. Erasmus Dooley, of Norway, formerly of St. Joseph's parish.

The commencement exercises opened with the customary processional, to the accompaniment of a march played by the high school orchestra, the student body forming an escort of honor to the candidates for graduation. The students appeared in presentation to the audience in groups on the stage and then formed an ensemble for the two choruses, "Gypsy Night," Ganne, and Curschman's anthem, "Protect Us Through the Coming Night."

Pride In Class

Rev. Fr. Leary in a brief talk expressed his pride in the graduates, their scholarship during their high school years, and in particular their accomplishments as seniors, and then introduced the commencement speaker, Rev. Fr. Dooley.

Rev. Fr. Dooley's address was a beautiful and inspiring tribute to religious schools, as represented by St. Joseph's, from their establishment in the earliest days of American history, through to the present time, and to their influence in training of character and establishing laudable principles of life.

"You have the foundation for your life's work," he said, addressing members of the graduating class, "and if you work honestly and earnestly, with perseverance, as you have in your classes, success must come to you.

"Aim high in life," was his closing admonition.

Diplomas and Awards

Presentation of diplomas to the candidates for graduation, by Rev. Fr. Leary, followed, after which special honor awards were presented the following students:

Donald MacMillan — The "all-around boy; pin and guard.

Dorothy Frederickson—The "all around" girl; Daughters of Isabella medal.

Leona Skradski—Scholarship for Mount Mary college, Milwaukee.

conducted by Sisters of Notre Dame.

Jack Loeffler—The Gorgas medal, for his excellent essay on "Gorgas' Control of Transmissible and Preventable Diseases," sponsored by the Gorgas Memorial Institute, of Washington, D. C.

Robert Garrity — Special award for his oratorical work.

Ralph Frasher and Dan Garrett—Special award for their business tact and ability.

John Hughes, Ray Couillard and Mary Vardigan—Special award for their willing service at all times.

The following acolytes also received special awards for their faithful service:

Louis Belanger—An award from Right Rev. Msgr. R. G. Jacques.

Robert Garrity—An award from Rev. Fr. Thomas Kennedy.

Raymond Bunno and Francis Gray—An award from Rev. Fr. Edward Leary.

Graduating Class

The graduates were: Donald Allingham, Blanche Anutta, Louis Belanger, Raymond Bunno, Marie Beauchamp, Helen Jean Beck, George Coan, Ray Couillard, Joseph Deloria, Kenneth Dugener, Stanley Derwin, Leona Eugate, Dorothy Frederickson, Ralph Frasher, Robert Garrity, Francis Gray, Steve Geniesse, Lawrence Gauthier, Dan Garrett, Frank Hirn, Jr., John Hughes, Clarence Kleiman, Marie Klug, Jack Loeffler, Ruth Labrie, Dorothy Menard, Elizabeth Morin, Ruth Morin, Georgiana Marcoe, Melton McGovern, Ralph McGovern, Donald MacMillan, Leona Skradski, Mary Vardigan, Luella Weissert, Eva Wells, Brendan Williams and Francis Zoellner.

Rummage Sale Today

St. Margaret's Guild will conduct a rummage sale today in the North Star Clothing company building. The sale will begin at 8 o'clock.

Births

Announcement has been received of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Wiley of Lansing on Sunday, May 26. Mrs. Wiley, who was Faye Auble, is a former member of the Escanaba high school faculty.

Snap on Hat Trimming

Summer hats, with white or pastel trimming, always will look fresh if the trimming is fastened with snaps. Several colored bands, or different bouquets of flowers will give you a change and you won't have to spend last-minute-time sewing them on.

Silver Lame Table Cloth

Silver lame material that you can buy in a thirty-six inch width is being used for festive dinner tables this year. To make a cloth large enough to seat ten, use three widths, sixty inches long, stitch together with seams running across the table. After the June wedding is over, put away for Christmas.

Gertrude Ederle, former channel swimmer, has turned to designing women's styles in New York. New dresses will probably allow for play of back muscles.

Theatres

AT THE DELFT

One of the cleanest and most refreshing dramas of the year, the Warner Bros. production, "Dinky," with Jackie Cooper in the stellar role, was shown for the first time locally at the Delft theatre yesterday.

It is a picture everyone will enjoy. For boys it has football games, baseball and other sports, cadet drills and the life of Young America in a military academy.

Girls will love its romance and glamor and its thrilling sequences which include a terrific fire in an orphanage in which Jackie is rescued from death by the young prig of the military academy.

Yet it is by no means a children's picture. Every man will live over again his boyhood and every woman will yearn over both the tots in the academy and in the orphanage.

The Clue Club, for the second picture to be produced under its insignia, chose Mignon G. Eberhart's "While The Patient Slept," which had its local premiere at the Delft theatre yesterday.

It is hard to say whether laughs or thrills prediminated, there were so many of each. But one thing is certain, the team of Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee has scored again. Beginning with "The Merry Frinks" and continuing through "Big Hearted Herbert" and "Babbitt," Miss MacMahon and Kibbee have proceeded from one triumph to another.

Now, Miss MacMahon brings to the screen Nurse Sarah Keate, the most remarkable character in all detective fiction and the favorite sleuth of millions of mystery story readers.

Nurse Keate has a cool head, a kind heart and a sense of humor, all three of which she tries to hide under a mask of cynicism.

Christian Science Churches

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, June 2.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Eph. 6: 11, 12): "Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 234): "Evil thoughts and aims reach no farther and do no more harm than one's belief permits. Evil thoughts, lusts, and malicious purposes cannot go forth, like wandering pollen, from one human mind to another, finding unsuspected lodgment, if virtue and truth build a strong defence."

ISLE TO HAVE BOAT SERVICE

U. S. Cutter Seminole to Run From Copper Country Ports

Regular transportation to Isle Royale by July 6 seemed assured Thursday night following a conference of Copper Country representatives with state officials at Lansing.

Telegraphic advice was received that the Steamer Seminole will be put into commission at once, and regular transportation between the Copper Country and Isle Royale will commence by July 6.

The Steamer Seminole was formerly a U. S. revenue cutter in service on Lake Superior for many years. It is extremely seaworthy and has all modern navigation equipment. The boat is now at Sault Ste. Marie. The Seminole is 188 feet long, draws 15 feet of water and has a speed of 12 miles an hour.

Wright Is Optimistic

Charles A. Wright, secretary of the Copper Country Vacationist League, said last night that the acquisition of the Seminole for the Houghton-Isle Royale run is the most important thing that can be done by Copper Country tourists interests. "Nothing can be done that will put over the tourist advertising campaign and give real impetus to the development of the tourist business like the obtaining of this boat," Mr. Wright declared.

"We are getting publicity of national scope that money can not buy," said Mr. Wright. "One could almost ask 'what's the use of all this advertising of Isle Royale' unless transportation facilities are provided to reach that beautiful island. The obtaining of the Seminole for the Houghton-Isle Royale run would bring 100,000 tourists here this summer. It's the biggest thing in Michigan."

The Isle Royale National Park association officers were encouraged yesterday by the fact that the U. S. senate had appropriated $100,000 for establishment of the Kenesaw Mountain National Park, believing that federal funds could be used for that project it also will be possible to procure money to acqquire Isle Royale for park purposes.

The Educational Conservation society, an organization nation-wide in scope, recently adopted a resolution, endorsing the Isle Royale park movement. Harry G. Vavra, president of the society, will ask Secretary of Interior Ickes to help the project. Mr. Vavra also is planning to talk on the subject of Isle Royale over a nation-wide radio network in the near future.

A second conference of the Isle Royale association will be held in Iron River Sunday.

Increase In Long Distance Phone Rates Announced

Minimum long distance telephone rates between most points, both within and outside of Michigan, will be made effective one and a half hours earlier Saturday, June 1, when the effective hour for night station-to-station calls will be advanced from 8:30 p. m. to 7 p. m. The change will be made for the purpose of offering more time and more convenient hours for making calls at the night rate, according to O. Sundquist, manager in this area for the Michigan Bell Telephone company. Night reduced rates apply on station-to-station long distance calls, only.

The Michigan Bell company applied to the Michigan public utilities commission for and received from it authority to make the change in rates between points in Michigan. The change in the night rate period on calls to points outside of Michigan is made effective under tariffic filed with the federal communications commission by the American Telephone & Telegraph company.

Under the proposed new tariffs, station-to-station day rates for long distance calls, both intrastate and interstate, remain in effect from 4:30 a. m. to 7 p. m., as previously. Evening rates, which have been in effect from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m., and which were about 25 per cent lower than day rates on calls to points more than 50 miles distant, were eliminated, and night rates, which are about 40 per cent lower than day rates on calls to points more than 50 miles distant, are now in effect from 7 p. m. to 4:30 a. m.

L. E. FOLSOM 89 YEARS OLD

Gladstone's Oldest Resident Observes Birthday Anniversary

Gladstone's oldest resident, Loring E. Folsom, yesterday observed the 89th anniversary of his birthday.

Mr. Folsom was born at East Machias, Maine, on May 31, 1846. At the age of 10 years he was taught to work in his father's sawmill at East Machias and for eight years was his father's helper there. He then came westward and located at Oconto where he learned the mason's trade.

He married in 1869 while at Oconto. After 27 years in the Wisconsin city, Folsom came to Gladstone reaching here on May 5, 1887. Gladstone was just starting to grow and construction jobs were plentiful.

Many are the monuments to Folsom's industry still about the city. During his years as a mason, he built miles of sidewalk and laid many house foundations.

Folsom built the house he now lives in virtually alone and also built the structure he rents to Clifford Sutter. "But I don't think I'll build any more houses," he said yesterday.

In 1920, when 74 years of age, he built an addition to the Delta Reporter building. He did the job with but one helper having trouble at the time to find anyone to work for $6 a day. He retired shortly afterwards.

Mr. Folsom enjoyed perfect health until about two years ago and still is active although his health is failing somewhat. "You can't expect anything different now," he said.

Mr. Folsom spends his time working about the house, and visiting at the Nyberg blacksmith shop on Central avenue with old friends and at the office of Phil Hupy. He still takes a keen interest in civic and political affairs.

Mrs. Folsom passed away in 1910 and a daughter, Claudie, died about the same time. Mr. Folsom makes his home with a daughter, Vetta, at the corner of Eleventh street and Dakota avenue.

WAR DEAD ARE HONORED HERE

Parade Is Followed By Impressive Services At Lakeview

Brief and impressive services at the Lakeview cemetery in tribute to the nation's war dead concluded Manistique's observance of services at the cemetery followed a parade that started from the Legion Memorial cottage, paused Memorial Day on Thursday. The at the monument on the intersection of Elk and River streets and then continued out to the cemetery.

Dr. A. R. Tucker of the local Legion post was in charge of the exercises. Rev. Grosa gave the invocation and R. H. Wilson, principal of the high school delivered the brief Memorial Day address.

Mr. Wilson paid tribute to those whose high courage and firm conviction led them to sacrifice their lives in the service of this nation. He reviewed the wars in which the United States has engaged, that of 1812, the Civil War and the Spanish-American War and mentioning the World War.

He stated that in our present civilization the nation as now constituted is our only guarantee of security, standing between us and chaos. "If any nation is to succeed," he said, "It needs in time of peace as in war, the same patriotism, high courage, steadfastness of purpose and integrity of ideals on the part of its citizens as those we honor today gave in time of war."

The address was followed by benediction by Rev. Grosa, the firing of a salute to the war dead and the blowing of taps.

In the line of march for the parade was the W. O. W. band, members of patriotic organizations and Boy and Girl Scouts.

Seniors Hold Their Annual Skip Day

Manistique high school seniors held their annual skip day on Friday. The custom has been observed for a number of years although it is not approved by the school authorities. The students skip on their own responsibility and when they return receive unexcused absence slips. As a penalty for the unexcused absence they are required to make up the work missed, usually in the form of a two or three hundred word essay on what they did during the day.

Some of the students went on visiting trips to high schools in Newberry, Rapid River, Gladstone and Escanaba. A number of others went on fishing or picnic excursions.

Guest Preachers In Presbyterian Pulpit On Sunday

There will be two guest preachers in the Presbyterian church pulpit Sunday, June 2. At the morning services, Mrs. H. Calvin Knock, a student at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Chicago, will preach the sermon. The pastor invites the public to attend the service and hear the message of the day from the lips of another.

The evening service will be a union service at the Presbyterian church. It will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. S. T. Bottrell will deliver the evening sermon.

BACK BAY HERE WITH CEMENT

20,000 Sacks of Material For Road Construction Unloaded Thursday

The freighter Back Bay was docked in the Manistique harbor Thursday to discharge a cargo of 20,000 sacks of cement to be used in highway construction on the new US-2 route south and west of the city.

The vessel docked at about four o'clock in the morning and at seven o'clock a fleet of trucks was at work hauling the cement to the old Cloverland garage building where it is being stored. The work of unloading was interrupted after the noon hour when laborers went on a strike, demanding higher wages. The men finally went to work at five o'clock in the afternoon at a fifty cent an hour rate. In the morning they were paid forty cents per hour. The unloading was completed during the night and the Back Bay cleared on Friday morning for Green Bay where it will deliver 15,000 sacks of cement and then will go to Menominee with the balance of the load.

The cement is from the Universal Atlas Cement company's plant at Buffington, Ind. None of the cargo will go into retail trade as it is all for highway construction jobs. Another boatload of cement is expected to be unloaded in the harbor here on June 8.

The unloading contract was let to the Kipling Dock company of Delta county and they in turn sublet the contract to the Flannigan Brothers Trucking company of Marquette.

The service being prepared for this occasion will be of special interest. Music will be by the double quartette and a helpful message by the pastor will feature the service.

The group of visiting knights will meet in the Lakeside lodge rooms at 9:15 o'clock previous to the service, and following the service a luncheon will be held. Members of the church are urged to be present to welcome the guests and to worship.

GOOD AUDIENCE ENJOYS PLAY

Production of "Double Door" Is Credit to Cast and Director

"Double Door," the Senior Class play, was presented to an appreciative audience at the high school auditorium on Wednesday evening. In the afternoon the play was staged for the school children.

The splendid production of "Double Door," a play usually considered "too heavy" for high school players, is a credit not only to the cast but to the ability of the director, Miss Mary Robbins.

The play with its malevolent burden of family pride become an obsession that leads to an attempt at the murder of a young bride, came off with a polish entirely unexpected of a high school group. Especially fine were the performances of Ruth Grosa as Victoria Van Bret, who rules her family, and Myrl Olsen as Ann Darrow, a nurse who becomes the bride of Victoria's half-brother Rip Van Bret.

Kurt Mattson took the part of Rip Van Bret and did very well as the young man who was trying to break away from the domination of an older sister. Richard Neville was admirably cast as Dr. Sully, the friend who is trying to assist Ann and Rip Van Bret. Robert Orr was at ease in the part of Mortimer Neff, the Van Bret family attorney and Roma Bergman carried the part of Caroline Van Bret very well. Avery, the capable servant, was acted by Mildred Ostlund. Others in the cast were: Robert Shampine as Telson; Fern Smith as Louise; William Cowman as William; George Saunders, Mr. Chase; John Ott, Lambert and Ronald Pointer, the minister.

Miss Carol Lavigne, pianist furnished the musical interludes between acts and Miss Mary Jane Wilson of Detroit, twelve-year-old niece of Mrs. Howard Holland, who has been visiting here delighted the audience with her dancing. The little girl did some toe and tap dancing as well as some unusual toe-tap dancing and acrobatic stunts. Before the last act, Miss Doris Mumford presented Miss Robbins with a beautiful purse as a token of the students' appreciation of her work in directing the play.

Assisting the director, Miss Robbins, in the production of the play were Stanley Steele, stage manager and Genevieve Hupfer, business manager.

Sixth year work, silver medal.
Seventh year work, gold medal.

These pin and medal awards, as well as cash prizes, which may be given during 1935 will depend upon what the legislature of the state of Michigan does with the fund provided by the rental of the Michigan State Fair Grounds. Schoolcraft county has this year been allotted $330.

Under the above circumstances, this amount will be divided between the winter and summer club programs, depending upon the enrollment in each.

BY FRANK MAC MILLEN
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 31 (AP)—After holding ground stubbornly most of the session in the face of the French financial crisis, the stock market ran into a burst of selling late today following President Roosevelt's comments on the supreme court NRA decision.

Liquidation in equities was touched off in the last hour, brokers said, in part by the swift decline in cotton which was ascribed to the chief executive's intimation that if the supreme court's opinion should block federal control of agricultural output, it would result in lower prices for cotton.

Although stocks had put on a show of firmness up to the last hour, it was conceded in brokerage circles that a good many Wall Streeters were in a hesitant frame of mind owing to the failure of the Flandin government to gain permission from parliament to put through stringent economies in order to save the franc.

Retail Sales Better

Market analysts, looking at the domestic situation for a hint of trend took some cheer from the weekly review of Dun & Bradstreet which said warmer weather had stimulated retail sales in cities.

At 599,543 the total of carloadings showed a more than seasonal increase of 16,216 cars over the preceding week although it was 26,447 under the total in the like week of 1934.

Losses of a point or more were registered by the following stocks: American Can at 122, American Tobacco "B," at 84 3-8, Chrysler at 42¾, Montgomery Ward at 24¾, and Johns-Manville at 45.

Utilities, which led an afternoon rally before the decline started, proved fairly resistant to the selling in other sections of the market.

The most conspicuous single group of stocks was the sugar division where concerted selling occasioned by sharply lower prices in the futures market brought heavy losses, particularly among the preferred issues. American Sugar preferred was down 6 points at 134, while Cuban American Sugar preferred lost 9¼ at 62.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 31—Lower prices for wheat today followed reports President Roosevelt viewed the supreme court's N. R. A. decision as a national reversal to the horse and buggy era.

Attention of traders focused especially on the fact that the president was reported as indicating the supreme court's opinion if it blocked any federal control of agricultural production, might result in 50-cent wheat and 5-cent cotton under present world conditions. With heavy selling pressure in evidence toward the last, May and July wheat reached a new low price record for the season.

Wheat closed 8-8 to 7-8 lower than Wednesday's finish, July 84 to 84 1-8, corn unchanged to 3-4 higher, July 78 5-8 to 78 3-4, oats 1-8 off to 1 cent up, and provisions varied from 2 cents decline to a rise of 30 cents.

Until news came regarding the president's talk, the wheat market showed an upward price trend most of the time. This trend was largely responsive to strength displayed by wheat quotations at Liverpool.

For a while, too, action of the corn market including a transient rise of nearly 2 cents a bushel, served more or less to stimulate strength in wheat and other grains. Today 127,000 bushels of corn were definitely known to have been delivered today on May contracts up to the time the market closed. Oats and rye largely took their cue from the behavior of corn.

Provisions ruled irregular.

1932 low	86.8

BY G. A. PHILLIPS

New York, May 31 (AP)—The bond market lost its hold and slipped lower today when traders and investors showed no disposition to bid for securities and small offerings found a scarcity of buyers.

Utility bonds, the only bright spot in the last several sessions, appeared tired and with few exceptions rested around Wednesday's closing levels. Rails were inclined to easiness and industrials retreated rather rapidly for a time but slowed up before the close. U. S. governments ended 3-32nds to 7-32nds lower.

Just what effect President Roosevelt's discussion of the NRA case had on the investment market was problematical because many of the street's leading traders had stretched the Memorial holiday over to Monday.

Prominent trading favorites losing 1 to 2 points included Container 6s at 101, American Water Works 6s at 80, Delaware & Hudson 4s at 77½ and Katy 5s at 41. Camaguey Sugar 7s were particularly weak, yielding 3¼ points to 93¼.

Issues able to hold their own or improve slightly included Columbia Gas 5s, North American Edison 5½s, Louisville & Nashville 4½s, Southern Pacific 4s and Western Maryland 4s.

run out to glance over her shoulder.

"Oh, that's lovely! Come, Mummy, see—she's done the bird bath and the roses."

Katharine loved it here. It meant release and escape. Her soul, feeling its inevitable growing pains, expanded in this simple, uncritical atmosphere.

Stanley Merser came back from his western trip and joined the family group without destroying the charm. He was a stooped, silent, gentle man in his late thirties. An artist, Stan Merser, and a good one. The little girls adored him. His wife was devoted to him, anxious for his comfort and happiness.

It was a good marriage—a solid, permanent, companionable marriage. Katharine, observing it, felt that Violet Merser was a fortunate woman. Still Violet had told her one day that Stan hadn't been her first love. No, their coming together had been the culmination of a more mature attachment. Yet Violet was happy . . .

Maybe all the fevers and fury of first love were wasted.

And yet—and yet—Katharine couldn't bear to see Michael Heatheroe just now. Later, perhaps, when she had got over the shock of knowing he was going to marry someone else. When she'd managed to forget those scraps of words she had treasured so foolishly.

"My darling!" he had called her, holding her in his arms, that day Fury had flung her.

Or had she dreamed it?

Voices intruded into her day dream. "Katharine, we're going to have tea under the big maple. Want to take time out?"

She put down her pencil. "Oh, tea would be grand!"

Lavinia brought the big silver tray with the quimper cups on it and the thinly-sliced bread and butter and the delicate little cakes and the silver pot.

"Anybody want it iced? Stan, you? Or Evelyn?"

Evelyn Vincent was an Englishwoman, a friend of Violet's. She came now, balancing her cup, to glance at Katharine's sketch.

"Oh, that's very nice, my dear. Look, Stan, don't you think so?"

"Mind if we look, Katharine?"

The girl shook her head, smiling. Funny, she didn't mind in the least if these people looked at her work. With Bertine, she would have fairly squirmed.

Stanley Merser, tall and loose-jointed in his white cotton slacks and blue shirt, came over to squint down at the easel.

"Why, this is awfully good, Evelyn, you ought to be able to do something with it."

Katharine, her heart beating very fast, looked from one to the other. They weren't making fun of her; they were in earnest! She had tried so hard to get it all in—the rocks and the drooping gray-green plants clustered about them and the flame and burnt orange of the nasturtiums.

"You've got something there, really," said Evelyn Vincent, who ran an art shop in Fifth Avenue.

For the first time in weeks hope stirred in Katharine's heart. Her "dabbling," as Bertine had always called it, contemptuously, might prove to be a way out for her, after all.

Landis Upholds Johnson in Dispute With Kamm

NDIAN LEADER WITHIN RIGHTS

hird Sacker Claims He Is Through as Player for Tribe

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago, May 31. (AP)—Baseball ommissioner Kenesaw M. Landis oday tossed the big family quarell between Manager Walter ohnson and Third Baseman Willie Kamm right back into the ands of Alva Bradley, owner f the Cleveland ndians.

WILLIE KAMM

Although bedidden Judge did ule, after a two our conference with the two adersaries, that Johnson was within his rights s club manager n banishing Kamm from the am, he refused o give an opinion as to the justification of the "Big Train's" rastic action in releasing Catcher Glenn Myatt outright and indefinitely suspending Kamm "for he good of the club."

Johnson, warned by Owner Bradley that he would be dismissed as manager if the commissioner ruled he had exceeded his ights as pilot, was jubilant. Kamm, however, was downcast, isibly worried about his future as a ball player.

"I have no doubts but that I'm through as a Cleveland player," he told newspapermen later. "They'll probably trade me or sell me. Maybe, I'll land in a minor league. I'm going back to Cleveland tonight and have a talk with Mr. Bradley."

In his characteristically terse statement, Commissioner Landis said:

"In this situation, two honest men found themselves at loggerheads as the result, mainly, of what was said or was alleged to have been said regarding what each of them did or not not do in connection with the ball club. As a practicable proposition, it falls upon the manager to act in cases where even perfectly honest differences arise. This is so because the responsibility is his, and with the responsibility must go the authority."

In suspending Kamm, Manager Johnson accused the third baseman of making trouble on the team and affecting the players with his suggestions and advice.

Both spoke to each other and later posed for photographers shaking hands. But they were far from friendly.

GET RELEASE

Cleveland, May 31 (AP)—President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians issued a statement tonight in which he said he will give Willie Kamm his unconditional release here tomorrow.

Walter Johnson's continuation as manager of the Indians is "a matter for the future," Bradley said. "As far as the Kamm-Johnson matter is concerned, that is a closed incident."

Bradley revealed that waivers on Kamm have been received from the other fifteen major league clubs.

TIGERS RALLY, BEAT BROWNS

Goslin Slams Double in Ninth With Sacks Loaded

Detroit, May 31 (AP)—Goose Goslin came back from the Detroit Tigers bench, to which he was exiled for weak hitting, to slam the Tigers to a 6-5 victory today over the St. Louis Browns.

The victory gave the Tigers an edge in the three game series after each team had won one of the double game holiday bill.

Jack Knott was on the mound for St. Louis when Manager Mickey Cochrane called Goslin to bat for Clifton in the ninth. Bob Weiland, the Browns hurler who let the Tigers down with four hits in the first eight innings, had set the stage for Goslin's heroic role when he walked the first three Tigers to face him in the ninth.

Knott disposed of Rogell who flied to Solters but walked White, forcing Gehringer home. Goslin slammed out a double that cleared the bases and a minute later he came home with the winning run when Cochrane doubled.

Hemsley, Browns catcher, was the heavy slugger of the day. He clouted safely three of his four times at the plate. He scored in the second when Joe Sullivan walked three men and was a factor in the Browns three-run attack in the eighth.

BIG SIX STANDINGS

(By The Associated Press)

Rollie Hemsley of the St. Louis Browns came back to the Big Six after a long absence yesterday when he ousted Joe Vosmik of Cleveland as the second American League representative. Hemsley made three hits in four times at bat and added 15 points to his average to make it .352, good for fourth place in the sextet. Vosmik dropped from that level to .345. Bill Terry, cellar occupant, picked up two points with three blows in eight times up in a double-header. The standing:

Close Races Indicated In Tri-County League

With the first two weeks games as a basis for study, indications point to very close races in both divisions of the Tri-County baseball league. Third games for all league teams will be played tomorrow with home games scheduled for South Siders, Rock, Trenary and Wells in the North division and for Bark River, Spalding, ERA, and Daggett in the South division.

Osier will travel to Escanaba to meet the South Siders at the North Escanaba diamond. Chenall is expected to get the pitching selection for Osier, probably opposing Smoky Trudell or Bryant for the South Siders.

Rock, at the bottom of the heap with two defeats, will attempt to break into the victory list tomorrow at the expense of Nahma. Playing on their home diamond and strengthened with the addition of Wright to their hurling staff, the Spartans feel confident they can still the big bats of the Ranguette boys. Olmsted is the probable pitcher for Nahma.

The Escanaba Athletics, revitalized by their victory last Sunday, will travel to Trenary. The Athletics will send their ace hurler, Art Carlson, to the box and Trenary is expected to call upon Quarfoot for mound duty.

Perkins, the only undefeated team in the North division, will go to Wells Sunday where they will face the hard slugging Wells town club. Peterson will probably hurl for Wells and Brown will take the slab for Perkins.

At Bark River, the Escanaba Grands will attempt to topple the versatile Bark River club from their undefeated perch. The game is one of the highlights of the day's schedule. The Grands may call upon Jonas to twirl against Ward of Bark River.

The Groos Papermakers, also undefeated in the South division, will travel to Spalding to meet the hustling Spalding aggregation. Brotherton or Puckelwartz will pitch for Groos, probably facing A. Poupore of Spalding.

Powers will come to Escanaba to oppose the Escanaba ERA club at the South Park diamond. Both clubs have lost their first two games but Powers in particular has shown much possibility. Both of the Powers defeats were by narrow margins, last week bowing to Bark River, 3 to 1, when the latter club scored three unearned runs. Burns will hurl for Powers and Brandt or Odess for ERA.

Schaffer will travel to Daggett for the other game scheduled. Both teams have divided their first two encounters, losing the first and winning the second. Green is probable selection for mound duty for Daggett. LaFleur is a likely choice to pitch for Schaffer.

Pittsburgh Beats Cincinnati, 4 to 1

Cincinnati, May 31 (AP)—Shaky fielding and unsteadiness of Al Hollingsworth, rookie pitcher, were the principal factors tonight in enabling the Pittsburgh Pirates to win 4 to 1 over the Cincinnati Reds in the second night game in major league history.

Paid attendance was 19,429, only a few hundred off from that of the initial arclight game last week.

The Pirates got away at the very start, after Hollingsworth walked Lloyd Waner, first man up. Jensen singled to right, sending Lloyd to third and he scored when Brother Paul bounced into the Reds' 41st double play of the season.

In the second, Young scored a three bagger and came home on Hollingsworth's wild pitch.

Two errors and Paul Waner's two bagger scored Jensen in the third.

In the eighth, Lloyd singled to center and went to second on a sacrifice, to third on an infield out, and tallied when Myers fumbled Young's grounder.

CHICAGO LOSES TO CLEVELAND

White Sox Drop Series Final By Score of 6 to 2

Chicago, May 31 (AP)—The combined pitching efforts of Clint Brown and Mel Harder and a lot of loose play on their own part combined to shove the White Sox deeper into second place in the American League today as the Cleveland Indians won the series final 6 to 2.

The defeat left the Sox a game and a half behind the New York Yankes who assumed the leadership yesterday, while Cleveland trailed one game further back.

Brown started the game against young Vernon Kennedy and when he weakened in the eighth Harder stepped in to finish the game. Between them they allowed only six hits.

Marty Hopkins, substituting for the injured Jack Hayes at second base, made three errors, all of which contributed to the Cleveland scoring.

Four Unearned Runs

Technically the first four Indian runs were unearned. Two came in the first inning when Hopkins muffed Joe Vosmik's grounder after Billy Knickerbocker had singled. Knickerbocker scored when Vosmik was forced at second by Earl Averill, who came home on two singles. Another Hopkins error, O'Dell Hale's single, a walk and a force play produced a third inning run.

The other three were scored in the ninth when Vosmik walked and Hopkins missed Averill's grounder to start the inning. An intentional pass loaded the bases and the runs scored on flies by Hale and Frank Pytlak and Campbelle's double.

The Sox got one run in the sixth when Manager Jimmy Dykes was hit by a pitched ball and went around on a wild pitch and Mule Haas' double. In the eighth Rip Radcliff doubled and Dykes singled him to third. He scored on an infield play.

Al Simmons, veteran Chicago outfielder, was benched because of a leg ailment and a hitting slump that has given him a .200 average for the last dozen games.

JOHNNY HAINDL TO BOX FUDALA

Champ of CCC District Booked on Escanaba Fight Card

Frank Fudala, classy CCC welter champ, gave his consent Friday to meet Johnny Haindl of Cooks in the amateur fight card at the Argonne Gardens Monday, June 10. All the promoters are waiting for now is Fudala's signature on the dotted line, which they say will be forthcoming in two or three days.

Fudala is fight champ of the Seventh forestry district, and according to the local promoter is a very neat performer who knows how to use his left hand mixed with right crosses in Gene Tunney style. He is just the type the boys have been looking for to meet Haindl. Fudala demonstrated his ability on one of the feature bouts at Marquette Memorial Day, winning his fight on the same program as the flashy Chicago performers who appeared there. He is from Camp Wyman, Munising.

Johnny Haindl needs no introduction to local fans. About 13 other bouts will be on the program June 10, one of them featuring Milton Kell and George Steffens, who will clash in the windup at 148 pounds.

GIANTS EXTEND LEAGUE LEAD

Defeat Boston in Both Ends of Twin Bill, 15 to 3, 4 to 2

Boston, May 31 (AP)—The fast-stepping New York Giants stretched their winning streak to seven games and their National League lead to 5½ games today by trimming the cellar dwelling Braves in both ends of a doubleheader, 15 to 3 and 4 to 2.

It was the second of three straight bargain bills for both teams and the Giants in particular showed signs of weariness after they had slammed out 22 assorted hits in the first game for their biggest total of the season.

Every man in the New York lineup made at least one hit in the opening encounter. Manager Bill Terry hammered a home run inside the park and two singles. Hal Schumacher, in addition to pitching seven-hit ball for his fifth victory of the season, hit safely three times and knocked in three runs. Glen Myatt, former Cleveland catcher, made his National League debut in the seventh and sent home three tallies with a triple and a long fly.

THEATRES

Half man and half wolf! This is the character played by Henry Hull in the film, "Werewolf of London," coming to the Rialto Theatre, with Hull, Warner Oland and Valerie Hobson in the leading roles. Hull has played some weird roles in his stage and screen experience but never has he portrayed such a sensational and spine-chilling character as in this film which is described as the greatest horror picture ever placed upon the screen. It is based on the legend of the werewolf, a creature half man and half wolf which becomes transformed into a man-killing beast each month during the full of the moon.

Second Feature

Paul Muni, one of the greatest actors of the stage or screen, comes to the Rialto Theatre today in "Bordertown," which is said to be the most powerful drama in which he has ever appeared.

The picture, suggested by Carroll Graham's novel, is a stark, realistic picturization of the colorful life in a town on the American border, with its night clubs and gambling resorts frequented by American millionaires and bored society women seeking diversion.

Bishop Asking Day of Prayer For Mexicans

The following letter, urging that special days of prayer be observed Sunday, June 2, and Friday, June 7, in connection with the religious situation in Mexico, has been received by clergy of the Marquette diocese, from Bishop Paul Joseph Nussbaum:

"To the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese

"Dearly Beloved:

"Mexico continues its ruthless persecution of religion. Legitimate endeavors to stop it have failed. Protests against its tyrannical and barbarous suppression of religion have been lodged with the Mexican government. Friendly intervention by our own government in favor of Mexican Christians and our own nationals who have been residing in Mexico have been south, but all in vain."

"The Holy Father, Pope Pius XII, declared to a Mexican Prelate whom he received in private audience some time ago, that there is no human way left to approach a solution of the Mexican religious problem. All ordinary diplomatic channels that might lead to a reapproachment are closed. The representative of our own government to Mexico recently stated that the religious situation south of the Rio Grande 'has reached a complete impasse'."

"However, despite all this, we ask you as a liberty loving and free people to continue to voice your protests and public condemnation of a government which deprives its citizens of their unalienable rights of freedom of conscience and freedom of worship. But in addition, the American Hierarchy suggests that you have more insistent recourse to another means—a spiritual means—to bring about a cessation of this brutal persecution. That means is prayer."

"Accordingly, we hereby designate Sunday, June 2, and the First Friday, June 7, to be observed throughout the Diocese as days of special prayer and intercession for unhappy Mexico, in order that freedom of conscience, freedom of religious worship and freedom of education be restored to that enslaved people.

"On Sunday, June 2, we request all pastors to have Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament all day and urge the various sodalities and societies of the parish to spend an hour in fervent prayer before our Eucharistic King reciting the Rosary and the Litany of the Saints."

"On the First Friday, June 7, let there be again all-day Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, the parish providing bands of adorers throughout the day.

"God is faithful to His promises. Jesus said, 'Amen, amen, I say to you: if you ask the Father anything in My Name, He will give it to you.' John XVI, 23."

"Humble, fervent, persevering prayer works miracles.

"Devotedly yours in Christ,

Paul Joseph Nussbaum, C.P., D.D.
Bishop of Marquette."

One of the prominent Lions Club workers of the upper peninsula is G. K. Fisher, president of the Newberry Lions Club. Mr. Fisher is scheduled to give the response to the address of welcome by Mayor Carl J. Sawyer during the Tenth District Lions club convention in Escanaba June 8 and 9.

"Your letter announcing plans for the Upper Peninsula district convention certainly sounds intriguing," Mr. Fisher wrote to D. D. Prust, general chairman, of the Escanaba convention committee. "Our committee has been appointed and will cooperate with you fully, I am sure."
